New Book

The Mormon Prophet and his Harem [illegible] the history of Brigham Young, his numerous wives and children by Mrs C V Waite [illegible] H H Bancroft & Co San Francisco For sale by S J McCormick Portland

This book furnishes a political history of Utah contains sketches of the Federal officers who have represented the United States in that Territory gives an account of the 'Mormon war' reveals the wickedness of the social system of the Mormons, and portrays their prophet priest and despot, Brigham Young in his real character It gives the first exact exposition of the polygamous system in vogue in Utah, that we remember to have seen The following is the law regulating marriages

"If a husband has lost his wife by death before he had the opportunity of attending to this holy ordinance, and securing her as his lawful wife for all eternity then it is the duty of the second, first to be sealed or married to the husband for and in the name of the deceased wife for all eternity, and secondly, to be married for time and eternity herself to the same man Thus by this holy ordinance, both the dead and the living wife will be his in the eternal worlds But if previous to marriage for eternity, a woman lose her husband by death, and marry a second and if her first husband were a good man then it is the duty of the second husband to be married to her for eternity not for himself but in the name of her deceased husband while he himself can be married to her for time and he is obliged to enter into a covenant to deliver her up and all her children to her deceased husband in the morning of the first resurrection"

The book shows that polygamy was introduced by Brigham Young

This was no part of the Mormon system of religion as originally established On the contrary it was expressly repudiated by all the Mormon writers and speakers previous to 1852, and in Europe for some years afterward

The Mormon religion was founded by Joseph Smith and his coadjutors, and the principles and doctrines of the religion were in the first instance such as they established The Book of Mormon is the historical foundation, corresponding with the Old Testament of the Christian Bible Afterward, a volume of revelations to Smith and others was collected and published, called the Book of Doctrine and Covenants This corresponds to the Christian's New Testament. It may be safely asserted, therefore that previous to the innovations of Young the Mormon religion was embodied in these two volumes Their authority in the church is universal and and unquestioned.'

At the close of the chapter which is devoted to a description of the wives of Brigham Young we are told how the 'prophet fell in love for the thirtieth time," and how he didn't quite succeed in his desires

'Our Prophet did not walk into love—he did not run into it, He caught it, as a man catches the measles It broke out, and showed itself all over in smiles, bows, and sweet honeyed tones. It is also plain that he should not have caught it. Had he not the charming Amelia, dear Emeline, sweet Lucy, pretty Twiss, his darling Lucy No 2, poetic Eliza, meek Zina, and his dear, dear Jemima, Martha, Ellen, Susan, Hattie, et, etc, How could any man, much less a prophet, wish for more?

But he said to himself, I have not a French lady in the family to teach my daughters that charming language I have no prima donna to conduct their musical education Then my last love—my pretty, naughty, bewitching Amelia—is so cross and fretful, she leads me such a crazy life, she frets and scolds, and I cannot drown her voice, even with my 'sacred fiddle' [He had frequently boasted that with his violin he could put a stop to the scolding of any of his women]

"Then my French lady is accomplished, She can receive my foreign guests She is so clever that she can assist me in my business projects and plans, and if she should prove unkind—which God grant she me not—and if her sweet lips should scold, I should have a great advantage—I could not understand her Then her name—Selima! How poetical None of my wives have such a poetical name. With her in my Harem, I could rival the Sultan himself, Yes sweet, adored Selmina, you shall be mine You shall be the high priestess of my affections, and all my common women shall serve you."

The Prophet plead his suit, but Selima was like stone He had a young man in his employ who dared to love Selima. The rival lovers met face to face The Prophet was furious—"She is not for you, sir, she is not for you Leave my service, and never dare to aspire to that young lady's hand again"

Alas, that love so devoted, so pure and disinterested as Brigham's, should fail to be rewarded by the object of its choice But no sooner had the poor singing master, for such he was, left the Territory for California, than another rival appeared in the field—a California volunteer—a dangerous rival, one who would not fear to follow up any advantage he might gain over his spiritual competitor

To destroy the romance of the whole story, Selima, charming but sensible Selima becoming disgusted with the whole affair, soon after left for Switzerland again, leaving her lovers to settle the matter among themselves

For once in his life, Brigham Young was foiled, and that by a woman

United States and the Fenians

The following is a Malone (N Y) dispatch of the 9th ult.

Gen Meade has revoked his order regarding correspondents. The Fenians are however prevented from using the wires for the purpose of their organization, otherwise there is no restriction To return to the interview, Gen, Murphy and Gen Heffernan stated to Gen Meade that they did not anticipate such a state of affairs. He said they "were Irishmen, and, like the Jews, had not a foot of ground on which they can stand and call it their own Now, when we have a military organization and a fair hope of success, the United States Government interferes and crushes us We have been lured on by the Cabinet and used for the purposes of Mr Seward They encouraged us to this thing We bought our rifles from your arsenals and we were given to understand, until now, that we would not be put down by the military power of the country

Gen Meade in reply, said that he came here to enforce the Proclamation of the President and that he would do it. "I have always understood that you did not intend to place yourselves in opposition to the laws of the United States"

But," said Murphy, "we did not If we intended opposition we could have easily captured the arms of your regiment"

"I did not know," said Meade

"Ask your officers" said Murphy and continued "We fought on the battle fields of the South for the preservation of this country but never mind, there may be another rebellion"

Gen Meade—We will not discuss that question

Heffernan broke in "Dart you are the scoundrel who has done all this! Would to God I had you in Canada, by G—d I would hang you before you had time to look around I have influence in this State, and if ever you attempt to come before the people to seek any office I shall be at the polls and shall make your name damned in every community We will oppose to the utmost of our power every man who has interfered in this"

Gen Meade proposed to Murphy to visit his men Murphy replied that he considered such a proposition ungentlemanly and unsoldierly When he was under arrest Gen Meade said that he intended to bring about conciliation

Heffernan—'Twenty four hours longer and we should not have been before you

Gen Meade said "I have no orders to parole you

Said both at once This thing is not dead yet We will succeed We have our orders from Gen Sweeney and we can and we will perform them If we get arms we shall cross into Canada We shall fight the Regulars if they oppose us

Gen Meade replied "I have got orders I shall fight you to enforce the neutrality laws

This ended the interview Murphy was in the uniform of a Brigadier General There is not much excitement in the town There are two companies of Regulars at Potsdam Junction to prevent the Fenians from crossing to Malone Colonel O'Neil the hero of Ridgeway, is also there Gen Meade requested him not to come to Malone

OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE STATE

SATURDAY MORNING, JULY 14, 1866

Shall we have Equal Representation, or be Governed by a Minority?

While Congress [illegible] unable to agree among themselves upon the form of such an amendment, the President says: "Let us amend the Constitution so as to proportion representation according to suffrage." — Mr. Seward at Auburn.

The meaning of this declaration of Mr Seward, is unmistakable. It must be received as an authoritative expression of the views of President Johnson on the subject of representation and suffrage. The leading principle of the constitutional amendment now before the States for their action, therefore has, or has had, the sanction of the President. Whether by this time he has changed front in relation to this question we do not undertake to say; but we have the authority of Mr Seward for asserting that only a few weeks ago he desired "to proportion representation according to suffrage." We regard it, however, as of little consequence whether he favors this feature of the amendment or not, only in so far as his former declarations in support of it may recoil upon and serve to confound his friends of the Democratic party who are so lustily shouting "sustain him!" Hereafter when we are told that the President is opposed to the vital principle of equality of voters, which the amendment is chiefly designed to establish, we hope also to be informed when and how so great a change happened to come over his views. In a public speech last spring Mr. Johnson said that he was "entirely too old to change his political opinions." If, as his new supporters claim, he is now arrayed with them in opposition to the doctrine of equal representation, it will devolve on them to reconcile his two positions with each other, which they will probably undertake to do by showing that he was entirely mistaken as to his age and the immutability of his opinions.

At the commencement of the rebellion each southern gentleman was confident that alone and unaided he was an overmatch for a host of cowardly Yankees. But the verdict on the battle field, did not establish the superiority of Southern manhood. It was demonstrated that in the trial and proof of valor, one Northern man was the full equal of one Southern man. This fact established, shall it now be conceded that one white man at the South is equal at the ballot-box to two white men at the North? Because a man lives at the South and has been a rebel, is that a sufficient reason why he should count twice as much in electing a President as a man who lives in the North and who has been faithful to the Government? The negroes of the South will give those States thirty votes in Congress, and of course the same in the electoral college. They will give their late masters as much power in the election of President as Oregon, California, Nevada, Maine, Kansas, Minnesota and Vermont combined. Here is power enough to hold the balance in an ordinary Presidential contest, and to control by the indirect agency of the negroes the Government of the United States. Nor do the people of the North in demanding an amendment which shall settle representation on correct principles, claim from other States more than themselves are willing to concede. They do not ask to have their disfranchised classes represented, while denying representation to those of the South. Political equality among electors North and South is what they demand.

WANTED—A NEW NAME.—The Richmond Whig, a prominent Democratic journal, in the exercise of the prerogative which it holds by virtue of being a leader of the majority wing of the Democratic party, has lately been offering some serious advice to the Copperheads or minority wing. It thinks that the latter, since the unavoidable difficulty of close communion of the two wings which began in 1861 and continued mostly through the war, has committed some very grave errors, among others that of putting itself in the attitude of a peace party while the country was at war. The Whig is fully sensible of the disadvantage of going before the country to conduct a political campaign with the very name of the party loaded down with odium. It has evidently cast the matter well in all possible views, and has been forced to the conclusion that something must be done. It proposes a change of name, thus:

> "Democrat" and "Copperhead" have become synonymous during the war; the northern people have come to —[illegible] and dislike both, in the same degree; and if you want to win elections, you must change your name. The attitude assumed by the party toward the government during the recent civil war has caused an odium to attach to it in the popular mind, which cannot be overcome. The party, therefore, as the preliminary step toward eventual success, must lay off its name and assume some other appellation more acceptable, which will not convey the idea of disloyalty.

Democrats may thus see that their conduct during the war has been so much what it ought not to have been that even the name is a stench, and that even a reconstructed rebel is ashamed to wear it. "Democrat" and "Copperhead" synonymous, and either of them significant of disloyalty! This from a late rebel is rather bitter upon those who made themselves infamous to serve treason, but, after all, they richly deserve it.

The New York World complains that General Ferry, recently elected Senator from Connecticut, was chosen "In opposition to the wishes of the wealth and business population of the largest towns." He was not elected to suit the views of the aristocracy but of the people of Connecticut. The aristocratic regime was mostly played out by the rebellion and the wishes of the people are to have some weight now in the administration of public affairs.

Mr. George B. M'Clellan, who is still sojourning in Europe, gives it as his opinion that in a war between Prussia and Austria, "Prussia must go to the wall." If she goes to the wall in the manner in which M'Clellan pompously drove Lee "to the wall" in 1862, Austria will not thank the hero of Chickahominy for his prediction.

FROM FORT LARAMIE.—Correspondence dated at Fort Laramie, June 14th, says:

I have been absent for a few days, and there is nothing of interest going on, round this post but feeding Indians. The Commissioners sent out a white man and a Cheyenne Indian a few days ago to go to the Cheyenne village to tell them to come in to the treaty. They were followed by a party of Sioux and the white man, Rolen, was knocked off his horse by the Indians, beaten and stopped from going to the village. That is the feeling of Indians when whites want to go through their country at present. It will be some time before the treaty is completed, as the Indians seem to be very slow about coming in, and I have no faith in it, for I don't think they will keep it, although it will not be the fault of Colonel Maynadier or the Commissioners, as they are doing all in their power to effect a lasting peace. Col. Carington has arrived here and will start a portion of his command for Big Horn in a few days. The Eleventh Ohio Volunteers (cavalry) will leave here in the morning for Leavenworth, where they will be mustered out.

REPORTED INDICTMENT OF GENERAL JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE.—After the excitement produced in the court room at Richmond by the charge of the presiding Head Center had passed away, the Grand Jury after a retirement of some hours, returned, and the foreman handed to the Judge five folded sheets of paper, which he stated were the indictments. The Richmond Times declared that one of the documents was an indictment of Gen. Breckinridge. It says:

> "Of the five indictments handed to Judge Underwood, one was against General John C. Breckinridge. This is an ascertained fact—and the indictment is verbatim the same as they brought in against Davis, except that for the words Jefferson Davis are substituted John C. Breckinridge. The overt act is alleged in both instruments to have been committed on the same day—the 15th of June, 1864. The object sought to be attained by the indictment of General Breckinridge, who is now in Canada, is to prevent his being pardoned by the President and his return to his home in the United States. It is considered certain that the President will not pardon him while he is under indictment."

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO JULY 13.

Cabinet Officers About to Resign.

CHICAGO, July 12.—The Washington specials in the morning papers say a full caucus of the Union members of Congress was held last night in the Representative Chamber, Senator Morrill presiding. Mr. Garfield said that Postmaster General Dennison would resign to-morrow because he could not endorse the President. He was asked for his authority and replied that he spoke by the book. It was then stated that the other [illegible] Cabinet officers would resign within a very short time.

The Tariff Bill Laid Over Till December.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—The Senate by a vote of 22 against 12 recommended the Tariff bill to the Finance Committee with instructions to report next December.

Foreign News.

The following was received by the [illegible] from Chicago:

FARTHER POINT, N. F., July 14.—Steamship St. David, from Liverpool 28th via Londonderry 29th, passed at 10:30 this evening.

Nothing is known of the Ministerial arrangements, except that the Queen has authorized Earl Derby to form a new ministry and promises him her support. A meeting of the chief conservatives was to be held on the 28th after which Earl Derby would proceed to lay before the Queen the result of the consultation.

Great Britain has published a proclamation of neutrality in continental affairs.

Of the situation in Bohemia a Vienna telegram of the 28th says it is officially announced that in the battle near Skalitz, (Glatz) not previously reported Neustadt, the Prussians lost many prisoners and 18 guns. After the battle the Prussian Major proceeded to the quarters of Marshal Benedick under a flag of truce, soliciting an armistice. The demand was refused.

A Cracow dispatch of the 28th, received this morning, says the Prussians made a fresh attack upon Oswiecim, when they were repulsed with heavy loss. The Prussians destroyed the Cracow and Vienna railroad in several places, wholly interrupting Austrian communication with Galicia. The Austrians entered Myslowitz on the 27th, but in the afternoon the telegraph stations were again in possession of the Prussians.

A Berlin dispatch says that the first Prussian army corps attacked the enemy at Trautenau and 11 A. M. the Austrians were driven back.

A Prussian telegram, dated Nachod, the 28th, says that an important battle, in which the cavalry and artillery were principally engaged, has been in progress to-day. The Austrians were driven back from near Glatz to Jaromeiz. Three flags and many prisoners were taken. The loss on either side is unknown.

The latest London dispatch of the 29th, says that the news is conflicting, both sides claiming advantage in the encounter of the 28th at Glatz. No engagement is reported as having taken place since.

The telegraph company in Great Britain furnish additional particulars of the engagement at Custozza. The left wing of the Italian army was attacked at various points simultaneously, and crushed before the remainder of the army could come to its aid. After the battle the army under the command of the Arch Duke advanced in pursuit of the Italian army, which up to that time had maintained its position. It was, however, driven in, and compelled to recross the Mincio. The Austrians also recrossed the river and took a position on the Italian side. The two armies then stood facing each other, the Italians at Volta and the Austrians five miles north at Solferino, and it was probable that another battle would be brought about.

The object of the Italian movement on Saturday, was to withdraw the Austrians from the line of Polesella and allow Cialdini to cross. The movement having failed Cialdini remained on the south side of the river. The reverses of Sunday has in no way disheartened the Italians.

NEW YORK, July 12.—The steamer Persia, from Liverpool 30th and Queenstown July 1st, arrived this morning.

The war news is very contradictory. Both Austria and Prussia claim the victory on the same battle field.

A Berlin dispatch of the 29th says: The Austrians were defeated on the 27th and 28th near Nachod, by the 1st army corps, and on the 29th, at Trautenau, by the corps of Life Guards, and at Munchengratz by Prince Frederick Charles. At Trautenau the Austrians are said to have lost 3,000 or 4,000 killed and wounded, the Prussians about 1,000. At Munchengratz the Austrian losses are stated to have been 2,000. The Prussians claim to have captured about 8,000 prisoners, and numerous trophies in guns, &c.

There was great rejoicing at Berlin. The inhabitants presented an address and serenaded the King.

The Crown Prince of Prussia reports that in his battle he had twenty-two battalions opposed to twenty-eight battalions of Austrians.

The Hanover army on the 29th surrendered at the discretion of Prussia. The officers retained their side arms, and the men were dismissed to their homes.

The whole Federal army at or near Frankfort was on the march, and a battle was anticipated.

The Italians have changed their plan of operations. There has been no further collision in Italy. Garibaldi was at Lake Iseo.

The English Parliament had adjourned till July 5th, at the request of Earl Derby, who is forming a cabinet. He sought to obtain the support of the leading Whigs and Liberals, who have acted against the Russell cabinet, but failed, and a conservative ministry is expected.

Threatening demonstrations had taken place in London among the lower order on the Reform question.

The Great Eastern would sail from Sheerness on the 30th.

It is reported that France will not long remain quiet and active intervention is reported already agreed on.

OUR SAN FRANCISCO DISPATCH.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 13, 1866.

The Pacific Mail steamship Golden Age arrived from Panama at 1 o'clock to-day. Passengers: H F Avery and wife, Capt. SAN FRANCISCO, July 13.—There is very little news from South America. Returning adventurers from the Bitbacbee mines continue to straggle back to Panama. Another batch of unfortunate miners numbering 18 arrived on the 25th, in the small schooner Rosarita from Tumaco. These men fully confirm all the previous accounts of disappointment, starvation and sickness. The parties who left for the interior at different times have either dispersed and not been heard of, or returned to Barbacoas in a deplorable condition. Several more deaths had occurred but we are only able to give the name of one of the deceased—A. D. Smith from Poughkeepsie, New York.

On the return of H. B. M's Corvette Pylades to England after a short cruise, she found at Madeira the Spanish unarmed frigate Gerona bearing a commodore's broad pennant, and a small iron-clad under English colors. The latter was said to be bound for Chilian waters and was being watched evidently by the Spanish frigate. She was fitted with two funnels, carried two pole masts without yards, had a ram bow, and carried her armament in a central, iron cased square battery like that of the Pallas. The iron clad sailed from Madeira for Rio unmolested by the Spanish frigate on the morning of May 17th, and the Spanish vessel remained until the morning of the 19th, when she also sailed—it was understood on a cruise of the Island, and with the intention of again returning to the anchorage.

Mrs Mary Ann Schofield has been pronounced insane and sent to the Stockton Asylum. She imagined that she is able to cure disease by laying her hands upon the sufferer. Martha Richards was also committed to Stockton. She is a raving maniac and has made several attempts on her own life.

The Enterprise and Gold and Silver Mining Company filed a certificate of incorporation to-day. They propose working the Enterprise mine in Meadow Lake of the Excelsior district in Nevada county. Capital stock $1,500,000.

The case of T. F. Bacholder and Thos Ambro charged with conspiracy to cheat and defraud Samuel Blackford, was argued at great length before Judge Dix yesterday afternoon, and taken under advisement for one week.

Judge Cowles this morning made an order that the money received by detectives Lees and Ellis, some $6,160 which was stolen from Collector Adams, of Astoria, be restored to the owner.

George Welch the sailor who stabbed officer Knower last Sunday morning, has been held to answer before the county court, on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14.—The iron clad monitor Camanche left Mare Island at 10 o'clock this morning and steamed to San Francisco, where she will remain for the present. She is now anchored off Third street.

The Markets.

Flour—Superfine hlf sks ꝑ 196 lbs, $5 75@6, qr sks $5 [illegible]; extra hlf sks $6 25@6 50, qr sks $6 00@6 75.

Wheat—The receipts of new, which have so far come forward being nearly all sold prior to arrival the market has assumed more tone. Millers and Chinamen are picking up such lots as can be procured quite freely at $1 50 to $1 60, for good to choice.

Barley—Sales last evening of 1,200 sks good at 80c, for export, and this morning of 800 sk's choice do at 82½c per 100 lbs.

Potatoes—The market is a little easier to-day, with no particular change, however, in prices.

Gold—Legal Tenders—Mining Stocks.

Gold in New York yesterday was 154. Later in the day it dropped to 151⅝, at which figure it was quoted in that city.

Sterling Exchange was quoted to-day at 109½.

Brokers quote Legal Tenders at 70¼ buying and 70¾ selling. The market is unsettled, owing to the arrival of the steamer which is supposed to be bringing a half million of greenbacks on private account.

The mining stock market shows signs of improvement from the morning board yesterday.

Yellow Jacket indicates an advance of $50. Savage $10, Ophir $125, Overman $9, Chollar [illegible] $1 and Bullion $1. Belcher declined $2.50.

Arrived—July 12: ship Joandor, 136 days from New York. Ship Samuel G Glover, 148 days from New York.

FROM THE NORTH

VICTORIA, July 13.—The owners of the steamer Fidelitter, which collided last year with the steamer Alexandra to-day recovered $2,200 from the owners of the latter steamer. The original claim was $10,000, and $3,007 was realized by the sale of the Alexandra. The jury found that the Fidelitter's valves were open, which caused her to sink, and that the damage would not have been more than $1,100 had the valves been closed, as the steamer could have been got ashore.

The bark Evelyn Wood from London direct in 138 days with [illegible] of stores, including [illegible] of wire for the Collins Telegraph Co., arrived this evening.

The ship Mohawk, from London in 198 days from Gravesend with Government stores and telegraph wire also, arrived this evening. She experienced very bad weather.

CATARRH.—The Origin of Catarrh is in cases of neglected Cold, which can be relieved by the use of Brown's Bronchial Troches, by soothing the irritated and inflamed membrane extending from the nose to the throat. For Coughs and Throat Diseases the Troches are of great service.

Proclamation by the Governor

WHEREAS, a vacancy has occurred in the office of member of the Senate of the State of Oregon, in the county of Polk,

Therefore I, Addison C. Gibbs, Governor of the State of Oregon, by virtue of the authority vested in me by the Constitution and laws of this State, do hereby require and direct that a special election be held on Monday, the 20th day of August next, in Polk county, for the purpose of filling such vacancy.

[L. S.] In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand, and caused the seal of the State to be affixed at the Executive office, in Salem, this 14th day of July, A. D., 1866.

ADDISON C. GIBBS.

By the Governor:
SAMUEL E. MAY,
Secretary of State.

THE MOST ATTRACTIVE ENTERTAINMENT IN OREGON—TWO COMPANIES UNITED.

BLAISDELL'S

Celebrated and Gigantic Painting of Irish Scenery,

THE HIBERNICON!

Or a Complete Tour Through Ireland.

A GRAND MOVING PANORAMA PAINTED ON 11,000 square feet of canvas, exhibited for FORTY NIGHTS in San Francisco to more than 25,000 people, will be presented to the people in this place in the same [illegible] and with the same mechanical effect as in San Francisco.

BLAISDELL BRO.'S TROUPE

OF

SWISS BELL RINGERS!

With all the Original Bell Ringers, assisted by

MADAME BLAISDELL,

(3 in Harpist—pupil of Bocha—her first appearance),

FRANK MOORE,

Solo Flutist,

MISS CLARA,

The charming little Irish Balladist will appear in Musical Gems and Character [illegible] arranged expressly for this entertainment.

THIS PANORAMA

Embracing all the principal Cities and Towns, her ruined Abbeys and Magnificent Castles, and her beautiful lakes and rivers, including all the lakes of Killarney, Round Towers, Giant's Causeway, and in fact all the

BEAUTIES AND ANTIQUITIES,

of the far famed Green Isle of the Sea, pronounced by the entire press (without a single exception) and the people to be the most beautiful Panorama ever presented to the citizens of San Francisco for support, and by Irishmen and former travelers in Ireland, faithful in every respect. Every view taken from Nature expressly for this painting. Particular attention has been paid to Coloring, Perspective and Effect.

Previous to the moving of the Painting, between the parts, and accompanying the scenes,

The Swiss Bell Ringers,

with the original players, assisted by Madam JULIA BLAISDELL (Solo Harpist), and MISS CLARA, the little Irish Balladist and Character Singer in new and choice selections, arranged expressly for this Exhibition will appear.

An elaborate Descriptive lecture replete with Irish Anecdotes, Stories and Legends of the olden time, by

J. H. Warwick, Esq.,

who will appear at every Entertainment, and who, having made Irish history his study for years, and combined with his former travels in Ireland, has made him familiar with every foot of Irish ground, is a feature of the exhibition, and should be listened to by every son and daughter of Erin.

READ THE LIST OF SCENES.

Dublin Bay, Killeney Bay, Killeney Hill, Round Tower of Clondalkin, Howth Castle, Carrick Fergus, Lough of Belfast, Carrick-on-Rede, Giant's Causeway, Paddy's Cave, Pattern in Connemara, Londonderry, Bank's Bridge, Limerick, The Shannon from St. Mary's Tower, Clonmacnoise, Natural Bridge of Kilkee, Holy Cross Abbey, Kilkenny Castle, Rock of Cashel, Cormack's Chapel, Glengariff, Ross Castle, Inisfallen, Upper Lake of Killarney, Lower Lake, Cove of Cork, Waterford, Ballybunion, Glendalough, Sackville street, Dublin, and many other interesting scenes.

NOTE.—It is specially desired by the management that those who can should bring their opera glasses, to view through them this beautiful work of art.

ADMISSION ... ONE DOLLAR.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN.

THE WEEKLY OREGONIAN is published this morning. It contains the latest telegraphic news from the East and California—a selection of the best articles appearing in THE DAILY OREGONIAN—full and reliable news from the Mines, and the most important commercial information published by any paper in the State.

The average amount of reading matter in the WEEKLY OREGONIAN is double that published by any other journal in Oregon; and in the particular of Commercial statistics and the Markets we aim to make it the most reliable—more especially in matters pertaining to Oregon interests.

ATMOSPHERIC CHANGES.—Portland and vicinity has been favored with such great changes of atmosphere during the past few months, without regard to seasons, as to excite unusual remark. Why this is so, is not so easy of explanation. Atmosphere is derived from two Greek words, signifying vapor and sphere. It is the gaseous field which surrounds the globe, called air, and the absence of which would instantly destroy life. Upon its purity is depended bodily health, for it is well known that very slight changes have produced serious diseases, and in some cases, death. Poisonous exhalations are ever pouring into this great gaseous reservoir. Volcanoes send vast volumes; marshes furnish great quantities of the invisible, yet deadly, miasma; while decaying bodies give out a constant stream of poison to mix with the pure air; as in the ocean, these life-destroying elements are silently counteracted in their effects by regulating agents. Essentially, air consists of two gases—oxygen and nitrogen, in a state of mechanical mixture with a small proportion of carbonic acid gas and aqueous vapor. Ammonia is found, too, in the vicinity of large cities; nitric acid, by the chemical combination of nitrogen and oxygen acted upon by the electrical shock is generated. But these may be reckoned as accidental impurities, which soon disappear in the bulk, or, by new combinations, are precipitated upon the earth, or descend with the rain. These two elements hardly ever vary in their proportions, whether they are taken from the tops of the highest mountains, from the deep valleys, from great cities, or from crowded hospitals, nor are they changed by season, climate or weather. In closely confined places, exposed to decaying matter, its purity, of course, is greatly affected—oxygen is diminished, and the deadly sulphuretted hydrogen and carbonic acid gas takes its place. These facts are clearly established by experiments of Brande, of London, and Prof. Nicol, of Paris, in the filthy quarters of those cities. From all the tests thus far made, moisture or rain does not change the purity of the air, as has been generally supposed, by those who find fault with the climate of Oregon. The secretions through the porous system, are no doubt affected by cold damp weather, or hot or dry, and a correct understanding of that, and how to adapt ourselves to sudden changes, would soon show that the atmosphere is equally pure at all seasons. It is thought by some that the cause of so much rain in these valleys can be traced to the Asiatic trade winds. These hot airs sweep across the Pacific and suck up moisture like dry sponge. Saturated with it, they pass over the snowy summits of our coast ranges, their particles are compressed together with cold, and they shed it like the same sponge squeezed in the hand. This is a wise and beneficent law of nature, regenerating the dry and parched earth, producing plenty and increasing the happiness of the dwellers in desert places. These valleys of Oregon seem to be in the line of those dry spots and thus gets more than their share—at least the past season would seem to indicate. Before dropping this subject, in another issue, we will treat upon the waters and its application to health, etc.

PANORAMA AND SWISS BELL RINGERS.—Oro Fino Hall echoed with the applause and laughter of a delighted audience last night. The panorama of the Green Isle has been closely copied from nature, the lights and shades artistically blended, the difficulties most always attendant upon paintings of this kind avoided, the grouping and architectural correctness carefully preserved, while the general scope of the whole is a fair and faithful representation of that once beautiful spot of earth. The pencil of the artist who sketched the varied scenes must have caught the inspiration of the moment to leave such an evidence of his skill. No one can look at those views without feeling a shade of sadness in his thoughts that such beautiful emblems are now mostly as mass of ruins. Feudal oppression and despotism has humbled her people as well as the monuments of her former greatness to the very dust. The ancient halls of learning and places of worship, especially, now crumbling into the earth, produce sorrowful reflections in the thoughtful mind. Some of the ruins, which are in a partial state of preservation here shown, are over a thousand years old. Mr. Warwick, for many years an actor of merit, and subsequently a member of the California Legislature, explains to the audience the points of interest connected with each scene, enlivening his remarks with Irish witticisms and imitations. Mr. W. has traveled extensively, and has looked upon the original sites of many of these panoramic views. His statements, therefore, require no endorsement. At the commencement, and between each part of the exhibition, the Bell Ringers furnish a metallic, musical variety. Some of the pieces they undertake are difficult, yet are pleasingly [illegible]; Miss Windell has a splendid harp, which she manipulates with skill. Little Clara (who, by the way, has grown some since we saw her last,) sings some songs in charming style, and dances to the delight of all. Her abandon and naivete is quite refreshing, and frequently "brings down the house." A matinee will be given this afternoon for the benefit of school children and "little folks" generally. Of course older people are not excluded. The usual performance in the evening.

OUR MONKEY "HISTER."—The unexpected arrival of this distinguished personage has caused a good deal of inquiry as to his headquarters. For the benefit of the uninitiated we would state that he is engaged in capturing game for the "unterrified" about around the corner, and made a splendid haul on Ireland, yesterday. If he succeeds as well in the future as he did in this spasmodic effort, a beautiful leather medal, attached to a wreath, in his heart, should be suspended from his cervical region, as a reward of merit. This badge would forever entitle the wearer to the nom de plume at the head of this paragraph.

STEAM FIRE ENGINE PRACTICE.—Last night Multnomah Steam Fire Engine No. 2, was engaged in pumping out the water in the basement of Hawley's building, corner First and Stark streets. The fumes from Nature's bile were very penetrating and produced a heavy disgust to those who rejoice in a clear nostril. Whether this odor is owing to the fact of having our neighbor located in the building may require chemical investigation. The pumping process was quite successful, showing the power of the engine to good advantage.

QUIET RESTORED.—Since the departure of the steamers everything has been "quiet along the front." Skirmishers and hackers have fearfully diminished, and the prospects are flattering for an armistice. It is believed that the runners will not extend their "line of operations" beyond the limits of the metropolis, so that our friends in the adjoining towns need not suffer any uneasiness.

SUMMER FRUIT.—Our supply of summer fruit is coming in very slowly; strawberries and cherries constitute the variety. This is owing, of course, to the cold and protracted rain storms of the last weeks of spring, and the beginning of summer. If we were of the growling kind, this would be a "fruitful" subject to "go in" on.

NO ARRESTS.—City Marshal Hoyt and staff, did not succeed in gobbling up any place of doubtful humanity yesterday. Perhaps our worthy guardian of the public peace has instituted a system of lettres de cachet, to remind us of the times of the French Bastile. Come, Marshal, own up.

RECORDER'S COURT—HOFFMAN J.—Mary Gla but, larceny, for stealing a gold buckle from Joe. Delevan, the minstrel, was tried by a jury yesterday and acquitted. There is no doubt she buckled on to the property, but as it could not be [illegible], of course she went free.

HIGH WATER.—The river is still at a high stage, but is falling slowly. The bark Anna Eldridge, Capt. Abbott, with Sandwich Island freight consigned to McCraken, Merrill & Co., is anchored off in the stream, being unable to discharge at her usual landing place.

THE RANGER.—The new steamer Ranger, Capt. Fisher, left for Monticello yesterday with a few passengers and a small freight. Owing to some defect in her pumping apparatus she returned after a start of a few minutes, on Thursday afternoon.

FINISHING TOUCHES.—Messrs. Lappeus & Knowles are adding a balcony to Oro Fino Hall, which is quite an improvement to the front. Portland can now boast of a suitable place to give musical and other entertainments, which is neat and comfortable.

THE WEATHER.—A pretty stiff north wind was blowing to-day, which is about the only thing we know of which has made a "stir."

DIVINE SERVICES will be held at St. Stephen's Chapel in this city on Sunday morning next, at half past 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. John Belwood.

FROM IDAHO.

We are permitted to publish the following extracts from a letter received in this city, from Mr John A. Post, formerly a well known resident at Oregon City. The letter is dated Ruby City, June 30th:

The Ravenna Ledge in War Eagle Mountain, has been sold to a Philadelphia company, by Governor Curry for $25,000.

Things are beginning to look up here. The New York and Owyhee mill is running steadily. The Cosmos, Morning Star, Minear and Lincoln, are all running—the first three on Oro Fino rock, the Lincoln and Allison. They cleaned up twenty-three tons, which yielded over $600 per ton.

The Eureka has been conditionally sold, and some rock crushed from it has turned out well. There are new discoveries made every week, some fair but none extraordinary. Work has been commenced upon the Poorman. The machinery for the Ainsworth mill came in last week.

Large numbers of Chinamen are arriving every day from California. Nearly all the placer mines in the camp have been sold to Chinamen at good prices, varying from $500 to $2,500.

Both Ruby and Silver cities are improving rapidly. Everybody is satisfied of our permanency, except some old croakers who would not be satisfied with anything. A Humboldt Express, through to San Francisco in six days, is advertised to start to-morrow. My opinion is that it is a bigger Silk than Mullan's.

The Indians have not quite got us but have given some a big scare, taking horses within a half mile of Silver City. A party of six citizens have started in pursuit, well mounted and armed.

The crickets have commenced their annual raid. One farmer on Reynolds Creek lost $5,000 worth of vegetables, by them, in two days.

Teams are not making as good time over the Chico road as they did last Spring.

FROM VICTORIA

The following is from the Colonist and Chronicle of the 6th inst:

TELEGRAPH EXPEDITION.

Mr. Butler, of the Collins' Telegraph Company, with twenty men, left yesterday for the Northwest coast of British Columbia, in the steamer Mumford. The party design exploring the Skeena river and opening a route for carrying supplies into the interior. They will afterwards land at Stickeen river and ascend that stream to the level land at its head waters.

FOURTH OF JULY FESTIVITIES.

On Wednesday the American national holiday was observed in a most enthusiastic manner by the settlers of Swinomish. The Declaration of Independence was read by Mr. A. D. Hill, and an oration was delivered by Mr J. K. Kennedy. A ball took place in the evening at Alexander's Hotel.

EXCURSION TO SAN JUAN.

The nett proceeds of the Fourth of July excursion, on the steamer Alexander, will amount, we are told, to the sum of $300, or thereabouts, a handsome addition to the funds of the Mechanics' Institute.

FIRES IN THE MOUNTAINS.

The woods for many miles north and south of this place are ablaze and the "smoke of their torment" ascendeth in great clouds.

AN ANIMATED SCENE ON THE FOURTH.

The scene presented at the "Gorge" on Wednesday evening was animated and interesting. Some twenty boats containing Fourth of July parties congregated at night fall in the Rapids, unable to stem the rushing torrent. The females and children disembarked and congregated on the banks, while the gentlemen exhibited their muscle in forcing the boats through the narrow passage. The hum of applause that greeted the gallant watermen whose efforts were successful, and the laughter that awaited those who failed, the variety of orders and counter orders intermingled with the hissing of sky rockets and the distant sounds of vocal and instrumental music lent excitement to the occasion and exceeded anything ever before witnessed at that romantic spot.

FROM PUGET SOUND.

We obtain the following items from the Puget Sound (Seattle) Weekly of July 2d:

The examination of James McKay and Jeremiah Maskill, charged with the murder of Manuel Oudo, seaman belonging to the U. S. war steamer Saranac, took place yesterday, resulting in the discharge of Maskill and the commitment of McKay to answer in the District Court the charge of murder. An application on the part of the defense to admit the prisoner to bail, was refused by Judge Ross, before whom the examination was had. D. S. Maynard conducted the prosecution, and I. M. Hall the defence.

McKay was taken to Steilacoom for confinement.

The wife of Mr. F. M. Stewart, residing on White river, in King county, on the 13th instant, gave birth to twins, both girls, one of which weighed 9 pounds and the other 11½ pounds!

The bark George Washington, Capt. Lennon, 11 days from San Francisco, arrived here last Saturday evening, with merchandise to various houses in Seattle. On her return, she will take a cargo of lumber from Freeport.

Bark Legal Tender arrived at Port Madison yesterday, 12 days from San Francisco.

The ship Coquimbo, Captain Boyd, sailed yesterday from Port Madison, for San Francisco, with 650M of lumber to Meigs & Gawley.

STATE ITEMS.

The annual examination of the scholars at the Willamette University, commenced July 12th and continues until the 19th.

We understand that notwithstanding the mail route from Umatilla to Auburn was advertised to be let, service to begin July 1st and bids were forwarded, the contract was not awarded and the route is without service. The people are complaining bitterly about it. They have to pay express charges for letters and papers, and they think it too heavy a tax.

A correspondent at Daley's station on the road from Umatilla to Grant and Olive creeks, writes July 2d:—"There has been an unusual amount of merchandise on this road this season. Some quartz lodes are being prospected, and the rock looks very favorable. Cattle and sheep drovers are looking this way for a market, notwithstanding all the blowing f r B a kfoot."

PERSECUTION OF LOYAL METHODISTS.—The N. Y. Methodist commenting upon the outrageous attack upon Rev. Mr. Lewis in South Carolina, says:

We can well understand that the good and pious of Southern education should cling to their prejudices on the slavery question, although they see that their conduct toward the negro race has been censured by the entire Christian world. But we are at a loss to explain by what sophism they can lull their consciences to silence as regards the continued attacks upon the life and property of peaceful men among them, by ex-rebels and prominent members of their communions. They know the numerous facts which their journals find it impossible to pass over in absolute silence. We could cite dozens of glaring acts of persecution, but we have only room to refer to the recent outrage outrage upon the Rev. Mr. Lewis, presiding elder of the Charleston district of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The fact is by no means an isolated one. Others equally outrageous and equally well authenticated, may be found in the public prints almost everywhere. They deserve, as they will find, the attention of the Christian and civilized world. We believe the fate of the Southern Churches will partly depend on the attitude which they assume with regard to such crimes committed by their political associates, and frequently by their own members.

ROUSSEAU AND GRINNELL.—The following in a Washington dispatch dated June 14th, has not been published before:

"Quite a scene occurred to-day just as the House adjourned. General Rousseau, of Kentucky, accompanied by some friends, approached Grinnell, of Iowa, in one of the halls of the Capitol, and alluding to the severe personal controversy between them in the House on Monday, seized Grinnell by the collar and said: "Do you intend to apologize, sir?" "I do not, sir, it is you who should apologize," said Grinnell. "Take that, sir," said General Rousseau, as he dealt Grinnell a blow across the face, which split the cane which was used into pieces. Before Grinnell recovered the by-standers rushed in and prevented further blows. A large crowd of members and others gathered, and there was for a time considerable excitement. Grinnell says that he has been expecting an attack, but having changed his coat to-day was not prepared with weapons to resist it.

The Lowell (Massachusetts) Citizen says:

"Our friend, Enoch Emory, of the Peoria Transcript, who was appointed postmaster not many months ago, has, we learn, been made to suffer for his temerity in expressing his opinions on governmental policy. Enoch is no longer postmaster."

Emery sees the above and proceeds to comment thus feelingly:

"We fear our down east friends have got a lit tle ahead of the facts. 'We are not dead yet.' In other words, 'We still live.' We continue to walk in and out of the postoffice, carrying our head under our arm, the best specimen of resigned political martyrdom extant. Andrew's thunderbolt fell short. He said to us 'got,' but we getted not. Our successor tarries in the Senate, friend Citizen, and so long as the Senate tarries, tarry we in the postoffice. When the Senate shall have adjourned, lo! we shall look for the coming of that successor, and make quick tracks to the shades of private life. Till then we are postmaster."

SEEING IS BELIEVING.—If Ladies who do not use the fragrant Sozodont will compare teeth with those who do, they will see in an instant more reasons for adopting it than can be compressed into a newspaper paragraph.

MOST LOVELY.—ELLSWORTH & GARDWELL, 89 First Street, have established the singular fact that beauty and loveliness are enduring. They furnish the public the ONLY GENUINE ENAMELED CARD PICTURES and SUN PEARLS to be obtained in the city while all specimens of the Photographic Art are of the same superior kind as heretofore. The exhibition at this Gallery and Museum is free to all.

All Persons should test the merits of DR. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. While it is highly palatable as a beverage, it is unequalled as a tonic and invigorator. In the pursuit of fortune at the mines, many persons are exposed to the attacks of complaints of the digestive organs and of various kinds of fever. It is the very article that has so long been in demand at the mines. Its daily use will restore the tone of a deranged stomach, impart fresh vitality to the digestive functions, and cheer the spirits. Yet the Bitters is the safest of all stimulants. Let the miner who is exposed to hot and dry, wet and cold, be certain to obtain a supply of the genuine Hostetter Bitter, and he will find it a certain safeguard to health. Sold by druggists and dealers everywhere. je20 HODGE, CALEF, & Co., 97, Front St.

S. T.—1860.—X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try the celebrated

PLANTATION BITTERS,

Which are now recommended by the highest medical authorities, and warranted to produce an immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and must supersede all other tonics where a healthy gentle stimulant is required.

They purify, strengthen and invigorate.
They create a healthy appetite.
They are an antidote to change of water and diet.
They overcome effects of dissipation and late hours.
They strengthen the system and enliven the mind.
They prevent miasmatic and intermittent fevers.
They purify the breath and acidity of the stomach.
They cure Dyspepsia and Constipation.
They cure Diarrhoea and Cholera Morbus.
They cure Liver Complaint and Nervous Headache.

They make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted nature's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya bark, wintergreen, sassafras, roots and herbs, all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix rum. For particulars, see circulars and testimonials around each bottle.

Beware of impostors. Examine every bottle. See that it has our private U. S. Stamp unmutilated over the cork, with plantation scene, and our signature on a fine steel plate side label. See that our bottle is not refilled with spurious and deleterious stuff. Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters by the gallon or in bulk, is an impostor. Any person imitating this bottle, or selling any other material therein, whether called Plantation Bitters or not, is a criminal under the U. S. Law, and will be so prosecuted by us. We already have our eye on several parties re-filling our bottles, &c., who will succeed in getting themselves into close quarters. The demand for Drake's Plantation Bitters from ladies, clergymen, merchants, &c., is incredible. The simple trial of a bottle is the evidence we present of their worth and superiority. They are sold by all respectable druggists, grocers, physicians, hotels, saloons, steamboats and country stores.

HOSTETTER'S

CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS

READ AND REFLECT.

Make sure of HEALTH. "But how?" you ask;
We answer, "Tis an easy task.
Strengthen the STOMACH and sustain
The NERVES, the sentinels of the brain;
The LIVER keep in active play
And regulate, from day to day.
Each organ aid, on Nature's plan,
Brace and refresh the INNER MAN,
And like a watch that's kept in chime
By constant care, with railroad time,
The system's tone and strength renew,
And thereby cheer the spirits, too.
"How," you inquire, "can this be done?
This Victory o'er Disease be won?"
"HOSTETTER'S BITTERS," we reply,
Is HEALTH'S SUPREME PROTECTION—TRY!

As a means of regenerating the disordered and enfeebled system, regulating every function of the internal organs, reviving the depressed spirits, invigorating the constitution, and prolonging life, no medicinal preparation, either of the past or the present time, has been so completely and universally successful as

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Against the vapors foul prepare,
That fever-taint the heavy air
Drink not unmixed the water found
In prairies, woods or marshy ground.
If sedentary toil you ply,
Nature you must assist—or die—
For when debarred from exercise
For artificial aid she cries.
Medicine a grand purpose and intent
Is threatened evil to prevent;
And if you'd be relieved or spared
From ills that crush the unprepared,
Hostetter's Bitters use—for note
They are the SUREST ANTIDOTE.

To set at defiance the miasma of unhealthy soils, the poison of unwholesome water, the effluvia of crowded work-rooms and factories, and the baneful influence of sedentary employments, it is only necessary to be forearmed with

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

Dyspepsia's pangs, that rack and grind
The body, and depress the mind;
Agues, that as they go and come,
Make life a constant martyrdom;
Colics and dysenteric pains,
'Neath which the strong man's vigor wanes;
Bilious complaints, those tedious ills,
Ne'er conquered yet by drastic pills;
Dread diarrhoea, that cannot be
Cured by destructive mercury;
Slow constitutional decay
That brings Death nearer, day by day;
Nervous prostration, mental gloom—
Heralds of madness or the tomb;
For these—though mineral nostrums fail—
Means of Relief at least we hail;
HOSTETTER'S BITTERS—medicine sure,
Not to prevent, alone, but cure.

In dyspepsia, fever and ague, bilious complaints, constitutional and nervous debility, constipation, sea sickness, spasms, and in all complaints of Man or Woman, proceeding from casual or inherent weakness of the body, the one great remedy and restorative is

HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED STOMACH BITTERS.

To wanderers on sea or land,
From Polar shore to Tropic strand;
To households lone, in regions new,
And dwellers in great cities, too;
To soldiers in camp, fort and field,
Who need against disease a shield;
To miners, California bound,
And tillers of wet marshy ground;
To feeble wives of fragile mold,
To young and middle aged, and old,
To those in health, who would enjoy
Heaven's best gifts without alloy,
To all the strengthless, weak and pale,
Who droop, yet know not what they ail,
Hostetter's Bitters we prescribe
As Health's most potent element.

If there is any value in public opinion or any weight in medical testimony, the very best and safest Tonic, Corrective and Alterative now before the world is

G. VENARD,

CHARTRES COFFEE!

Manufactory Established in June, 1851.

STEAM POWER, NOS. 625 AND 627 FRONT ST.

HAS CONSTANTLY ON HAND GROUND AND ROASTED COFFEE, GREEN COFFEE of the best qualities. CREAM OF TARTAR and SPICES of all sorts.

The undersigned, who has always enjoyed public confidence for the excellent quality of his Coffee, neglects nothing to justify the good name acquired by his productions, the sale of which daily increases. The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise, which commands here, and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price, excites the cupidity of some manufacturers, and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark, seek to deceive the public, palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G. VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud can deceive nobody after a trial, but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers, the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. Nevertheless, buyers should be forewarned, and placed on their guard against this practice.

BEWARE OF COUNTERFEITS.

Each package bears the signature of G. VENARD.

Going Ashore

"There she is—there—that's she just off the pint there. She's coming stem on, and in arf an hour, if she ain't on Bunk Sands, I'm a Dutchman."

My companion was no native of [illegible] for there was Briton written in every feature of his bronzed face, as he stood by me in Heythrope shore in his canvas trousers, heavy fishing boots, blue jersey shirt and tarpaulin hat, tied on with a [illegible] while the flap behind beat about in the tremendous wind that was raging in on shore.

Bang—went the dull report of a heavy gun and in the shade of the coming night I just caught sight of a faint flash. [illegible] the spray came rushing in like a storm of heavy rain while the whistling of wind and the thundering in of the huge rollers as they curled over and over upon the sands, tearing it out from among the clays, and scraping it away by tons made standing in the face of such a storm extremely confusing; and yet hundreds were out on the shore under the great sand bank drenched to the skin with the spray for the news had spread through the village that a three master was going ashore.

Going ashore! Simple words to a landsman's ears. But what do they mean? The noble vessel tearing and plunging through the broken water now down in the trough of the waves, now rising like a cork upon the white crests, and then a shock as she strikes upon the sand and seems immovable, a shuddering quiver through plank and beam, and then, crash, crash, crash—mast after mast gone by the board—snapped like brittle twigs on a deal stem, while huge ropes part like burned twine, then the rising of the apparently impregnable vessel, as she is lifted by the waves to fall crashing again upon the sands, parting in the middle, rushing billows pouring tons upon tons of water over the deck, a wild wild cry for help, and then the shore strewed with fragments, casks, bodies, as the merciless waves sport with them, tossing them on the sands and then curling over to drag them back. Going ashore, not safety from a wild storm, but death.

"Ah," said the old salt by my side shouting at me with his hand to his mouth, "did yer hear that gun?"

I nodded.

"There goes another," he continued stretching out his hand and pointing to where the flash could be seen, while directly after came another dull, heavy report. "Can't yer see her now, sir?"

Mine were not sea going eyes, and it was no easy task to make out a distant object through the blinding storm of spray which beat dead in my face, but I just managed to make out a dark mass right out amongst the boiling waves, and I shuddered as I thought of the fate of those on board.

"She must come to it," said the man, "she'll come in just there," and he pointed to a spot amongst the waves where they foamed roughest, "she'll be there in less time than I said; and then Lord have mercy upon 'em. Amen!"

As he said this, the old man reverently took off his tarpaulin sou'wester, and stood with the storm the remains of his grizzly hair, bald, rugged and weather beaten, the coarseness of his features seemed for the moment subdued—softened by the feeling within his breast—as he stood there no inapt representation of a seer of old.

"Is there no chance for them," I shouted.

The old man shook his head and shrugged his shoulders. "Precious little," he said, "unless them chaps come down with the life-boat; but who'd go out?"

It did look a desperate adventure, indeed, to attempt to launch a boat with such a sea on, and having no reply, I stood shading my eyes and gazing out to sea.

"Bang!"

There was another flash, and another dull close report, and as the veil of spray seemed to clear during a lull in the storm, I could perceive a large three-masted vessel about five hundred yards from the shore, and once, as she heeled over and showed her deck, I could see that it was crowded with people.

"God help them!" I muttered.

"Amen!" said the old man; and just then, away to our left, we saw the life boat carriage coming down at a trot, drawn by two stout horses while a loud and prolonged "hurray" welcomed its arrival, as another flash, and its following heavy report, seemed to come from the doomed vessel like a groan of pain in its hour of sore distress.

"They'll never get out to her," said the old man, shouting in my ear, for after the lull the storm came down with redoubled fury, the wind shrieking and howling past, cutting the crests of the waves off as it came tearing over the hill of waters and dashing the salt spray in my face, till it almost cut the flesh; while at times the women who had come down, were completely held back against the steep sand bank.

"There! look there!" cried the old man, suddenly seizing my arm, "Catching at straws. Why, there is a boat coming ashore. There—don't you see—now a-top o' that breaker?"

I caught sight of a small boat crowded with figures, and then there seemed to be a tall wave curl over it, and I saw it no more.

"Gone," said the old man, "I knew it! Nothing could live in such a storm."

"Let us go to the life-boat, and see if they are going off," said I; but the old man was intently gazing out to the sea.

"There; just as I said," he shouted hoarsely, "just in the place. She's struck." And then above the yelling of the storm, we could hear a crash, and a wild shriek, that seems to ring through me now upon a stormy night, when far inland I listen to the howling wind.

"It's now, or never," said the old man, as he ran down toward where the life-boat stood on its carriage, with a crowd of men and women around, the women hanging on to their husbands, and apparently begging that they would not dare the perils before them.

The sea looked fearful enough from where we stood before, but here, as close as we dared go to the breakers, it looked perfectly awful, while the attempt to launch a boat seemed absolute madness. It was evident that the men thought so too, though, as we came up, one sturdy fellow shouted, "I'm ready, mates, if you're going," a remark that elicited no response, for every one stood gazing out toward the doomed vessel.

Just then, in the dull haze seawards, a blue light shown out over the water like a dull star. No one moved. All at once, the old man by my side laid hold of my arm, and whispered "Give me a lift sir;" and before I knew what his object was, he had climbed by my help into the boat.

"Now then, you boys," he shouted loudly "I can't stand this! Stand aside, and let some of the older ones come."

The spell was broken. Women were hastily thrust aside, and a boat's crew was soon made up, amidst the shrieking and wailing of sweethearts and wives, who ran about the beach wringing their hands.

"Hurray for old Marks!" shouted a voice at my elbow, and the crowd loudly cheered the old man. Then oars were shipped and all made ready, the old sailor seizing the steering-oar as he stood up in his place with a life-belt on and his hat blown off, looking nobler than ever.

"Now, are you ready?" he shouted.

"No, no," was the cry, and in the hum of expostulation two men rose in the boat, dashed off their life-belts, and amidst half muttered groans leaped out from their places, and ran up the sands to the bank, where they disappeared.

"Two more!" shouted old Marks, and for a few moments so dread was the peril, not a soul moved; then two stout lads came rushing towards the boat, pursued by an elderly man—a perfect giant.

"Stop them," he roared. "Yer shan't go lads."

He came up to them by the boat-side as they were climbing in, and endeavored to stop their progress, but in his turn he was seized from behind by a couple of men, and two newcomers were in half a minute equipped for the dire struggle before them and in their places.

"Let me go!" shrieked the man, but the others clung to him. The signal was given, and the carriage backed down into position the time accurately chosen, and with a wild hurrah, heard above the storm the life boat was launched.

My attention had been so taken up that I had ceased to look upon the man who was struggling to regain his liberty, but just as the boat was leaving its carriage, a bystander was driven violently against me, and the moment after I saw a figure dash across the intervening space and into the side of the boat; and then came the roar of the storm and the rush of spray, while for a few minutes the life boat was invisible. Then, a short distance off she was seen rising upon a wave, and then disappearing again into the dull haze, which mingled with the coming night, soon shut everything from our gaze but the foaming water.

"Over seventy, sir," shouted a voice in reply to the query. "Old man o' war's man. Born in many a storm, but this here's awful."

Awful it was. For so wild a night had not fallen on that part of the coast for many years, and as the folks upon the shore gazed in the direction the boat had taken, they shook their heads and shouted in each other's ears.

There was a long and awful pause, only broken by the shrieking of the wind, and then came a loud shout, "Here she comes!" and in another minute, obedient to their steersman the rowers timed their strokes to a second so that the boat, heavily laden, rode in upon the summit of a giant wave so far that twenty willing hands were at her side, and she was run right up the sands and fifteen shivering half drowned fellow creatures [illegible] out and hurried up the shore.

"Now, my lads," cried old Marks, "on to the truck with her, and we'll off again."

The boat was soon mounted and every man at his post, the father of the two lads taking his place by the side of the [illegible] amount of persuasion on either side could effect a change.

There was another cheer rising above the storm, [illegible] into the surf that seemed to curl round the boat as though it would fill it in an instant. [illegible] blackness, for night had fallen.

I could not drag myself away from the stirring scene [illegible] the spot [illegible] a strange scene [illegible] a lurid light shot up [illegible] straw had been set on fire, and the flames roared and crackled as dry sea-weed and pieces of wood were heaped up to increase the glare which appeared to gild the crests of the waves and threw into bold relief the figures on the sand—some gazing out to sea, some watching eagerly the fringe of breakers ready to rush down and secure anything that might be washed ashore from the wreck.

More straw was heaped upon the fire and the flames and sparks rushed inland, as they rose with the mighty current of air, and darted across the sand bank. Out seaward all seemed black darkness, and the eyes strained after the life boat were for a while strained in vain.

All at once there was a cry of "Here she comes," but it was prolonged into a wild wail of despair for by the light from the fire the boat could be seen broadside on, and close inshore, and then after tossing about for a moment she was dashed bottom upwards upon the sand.

There was a rush to aid the men struggling in the surf. Some were dragged ashore, some scrambled unaided from the water while more than one was sucked back by the undertow; but the life belts they wore kept them afloat; and at last more or less hurt, the whole crew was ashore three being carried up to the village insensible.

I now learned that, about half way to the vessel, the steersman's oar had snapped in two and the boat fell into the trough of the sea when in their efforts to right her, a couple more blades were broken; a wave swept over them and washed two men from their seats, but they regained their places, and then, with the dread of death upon them, the boat became unmanageable in their hands, for in spite of the efforts of the old cockswain, the men appeared panic stricken, and rowed at random.

The light that glared upon the shore now showed that it was completely strewn with wreck and I looked with horror upon the various signs which so plainly disclosed the fate of the good ship. Spar, plank, beam and cask, entangled with rope, were turned over and over in the sand, and twice I saw something dragged ashore, and carried away, which sent a shudder through my frame.

At last, heart-sickened and weary, I turned away, and inquired where the crew of the boat were and who had suffered when, to my sorrow I learned that the only one seriously injured was old Marks, who had so gallantly set the example that evening—an example which had resulted in the saving of fifteen poor creatures from a watery grave.

On entering the village I soon found where the old man had been conveyed, and a few minutes after I was at the bedside of the sufferer. I found him sensible but with a change in his countenance that no amount of pain or suffering alone would have placed there. He was quite calm and smiled as I entered.

"Has she gone to pieces?" he whispered stopping to wipe the blood away that oozed from his lips.

"I fear so," I replied, "the shore is strewn with wreck."

"I knowed she would," he gasped. "Poor things, poor things! How many did we bring ashore?"

"I told him fifteen."

"Ah!" he groaned, "not enough, not enough."

"But it was a most gallant act," I said; "and more would have been saved but for the accident. Where are you hurt? It is not serious I hope?"

"Serious?" he whispered, and then with a sad smile: "No, it ain't serious. I'm the only one hurt, and my time's up long ago—four years and more. So it ain't serious."

"Where are you hurt?" I said.

"Ribs all crushed," he whispered. "I was under the gunwale of the boat, and its all over. I could see it in the doctor's looks."

A gush of blood stopped his utterance, and I could not whisper the comfort I did not feel.

"It's all right, sir," he whispered, after lying with his eyes closed for about half an hour—"it's all right, and an old tar couldn't die better than doing his duty. I never thought to, but always felt as if I should like to die in harness, as they say, and so I shall, but I wish there had been more."

"More what?" I said.

"More saved," he whispered. "Yer see I've been afore now in action, and the Almighty only knows how many souls I've cut off; and I should like to feel sure as I'd saved more than I did for—that's all. Perhaps they might go in the scale, to help balance the bad."

"But you did all as a part of your duty."

"Ah!" he whispered, "duty? Yes, sailors should do their duty; and I felt it was mine, to-night, to go. We old men-o'-war's men were trained to answer to a call in calm or storm, and when lives were at stake to-night I felt that I was called, and should go, and I hope I did my duty. Will you ask them fifteen to just say a word or two for the old man in their prayers, sir, I mean when I'm gone? I think I should like them to, for I'm an old sailor, and can't boast of my past life."

"Have you no relatives?" I whispered; "no friends that you would like to see?"

"Far away—far away," he said with a mournful shake of the head; "and some are a waitin' for me to join their watch. Don' leave me, sir," he said piteously.

I promised I would not, and sat watching hour after hour listening to the hard breathing of the sufferer, who seemed to sink into a state of stupor, only moaning at intervals, as he tossed his head from side to side of the pillow, and muttered a few words broken and half-spoken. The storm gradually sunk, the wind quite lulled, and about three o'clock I half drew the curtain and looked out upon the sea, which still tossed fearfully though all above was calm and peaceful—a light cloud just drifting slowly past the pale bright moon.

I stood gazing at the soft, blue sky, now so placid and serene, almost wondering that so great a change could have taken place, when I started, for a voice behind me shouted, "Morning watch. Draw the curtain, and let that moon shine in."

I obeyed—turning cold and trembling as I did so—still looking at the dying sailor, who sat erect in the bed. "Here," he said and, as I approached the bed, he seized my hand. "Hark! don't you hear that? It's the boatswain piping for me to keep my everlasting watch. Ay, ay sir! There—hark again! There's the waves dashing upon the farther shore. Breakers ahead! look out there, the old vessel's struck, and she's going to pieces—the old seventy four, that's weathered so many a storm, going ashore. Fare well, mess mate, one short struggle, one bold plunge and a hopeful heart—a brave striking out through the harsh breakers! Land, ho! land, ho! on the other side and its a land of rest—a land of peace and hope. Now for it! The rush of the dark waters is coming—blinding, deafening—but a bold heart, messmate. God bless you! I'm going ashore."

For some minutes I sat motionless. The old man's eye had lighted up as he gazed straight before him out upon the moonlight heavens. His voice seemed to peal through the silence of the night, till I shivered as he described the wreck then taking place. To the last word, his voice had rung out loud and resonant, then he sank back motionless upon the pillow, stained now with his life blood, and I passed softly from the room, for I knew that his life-bark was stranded by the sea of Death.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

WEEKLY REVIEW

PORTLAND, July 13th, 1866.

We hear of no change in matters relating to finance for the period passing in review. The latest official returns of treasure shipments from the Pacific coast have given rise to much comment in the press of California regarding the astonishingly large amounts sent away on mercantile account during the first six months of 1866 which is greatly in excess of shipments for corresponding periods for several years past. We have given the official figures during the week speaking about which the Alta says:

It is no doubt the case that the gold exported is the product of the country, and that it has gone forward for sale like wheat or wool or any other commodity. But it is also the currency of the country. Both bar gold, the material for money and manufactured coins have been shipped. The bar gold has brought a very high price, a premium on 900 fine. The coin has, however, been abstracted from the currency, and by so doing has reduced its volume, tending, according to ordinary rules, to lower values and diminish prices. That these effects have not [illegible] is due to the absence of paper money and of circulating credits dependent upon it. The amount of coin here is very large for the numbers of the people. It is known to be larger per head than anywhere else in the world. It accumulates here naturally from the mines where the metal is produced and as much of it is turned into coin by the mint here as is necessary. The surplus is exported. The operations of trade determine how much shall be exported. No man or set of men can [illegible] to lay down a rule for it. [illegible] carry off the surplus of gold thus again reducing the volume of the currency to the level of that of other countries. The fact that prices are generally higher in San Francisco than in Europe [illegible] $1 45 [illegible] demand for gold for export like that of the past month took place it would [illegible] Thus the sending away of $12,000,000 [illegible] currency $30,000,000 [illegible] half the merchants. As it is, the departure of gold was only a sign that there was too much here, that it was worth more elsewhere. Now we have said that gold was produce here, and that the material for money as well as the money itself is exported, sometimes one, sometimes the other, sometimes both. When there is too much coin here, bars rise in value, and when they reach 8½ fine and over they pay better to sell [illegible] to be shipped than they turn into coin. If there is too little coin here the fact shows itself in low prices for goods, of which consequently, less will be imported. There will be then, less demand for remittances of gold. Bars will decline below 8½, and it becomes profitable to coin them than to ship. The volume of money will thus increase again. It is these circumstances constantly changing by the action of invisible causes that determine when bars or when coin shall be shipped and how much shall be retained. As a general fact a large export is a good sign [illegible] that the staple product of the coast is being sold to advantage, that is, as many goods are got for the same gold.

It is almost certain that the bill introduced in the Senate by Williams of Oregon granting lands in aid of a railroad from the Columbia River to Salt Lake will become a law at an early day in which event we are assured that parties in interest with the Union Pacific Railroad Company stand ready to subscribe for a majority of the stock and take immediate steps to survey the route with a view of building this road at the earliest possible moment. The importance of the enterprise of the Union Pacific Railroad Company cannot be over estimated. By commencing at the Columbia River and working back a distance of 167 miles over easy grades and a country well supplied with material, a point known as Farewell Bend or Olds Ferry, on Snake River is reached. From this point to what is now known as Fruit's Ferry, or Owyhee Crossing a distance of about 120 miles the river presents uninterrupted navigation at all seasons of the year except occasional delay by ice. This stretch of river is now navigated by a first class steamer owned by the O. S. N. Co., and is directly on the line of the projected railroad and therefore, for a time would supercede the necessity of building this section, and aid very much in the early completion of the road. The probable distance from the head of navigation, on Snake river, to Great Salt Lake City, is about 400 miles and over a country of easy grades for railroads.

Thus we see, that by building 567 miles of railroad, a junction is made with the Union Pacific Rail Road at Great Salt Lake City at comparatively a small cost and the oceans connected by rail and steam on the great overland route, in two or three years less time than by any other plan. Add to the prospects thus outlined the growing trade of Montana, Big Bend and other newly discovered mining districts which are tributary to our commerce, and we find the commercial prospects of Oregon unrivaled by any other State or Territory on the Pacific coast.

Freights are now being contracted for from Umatilla to Boise City at 6 cts ℔ lb, and to Ruby City at 6 cts. ℔ lb. We would recommend that the O. S. N. Co., who have made great reductions in rates during the past year, make further reductions, and thus by inducements to the shipper, of low rates, quick time and sure facilities, be able to demand the trade that nature intended should be tributary to the Columbia river.

The importance of establishing a first class line of steamships between Portland and San Francisco, is yet attracting the attention of our merchants and capitalists, we may say at the present time, more than ever before. They seem to be really in earnest on the subject. Let the good work go on until nothing inferior to the Oriflamme will receive the patronage of our shippers.

Nothing can be so important to the future welfare and growth of Oregon as the successful establishment of such a line. The trade between this city and San Francisco, has grown wonderfully within the last two years. How much more may we expect, if we are served with new ships, well adapted to the trade—commanding the confidence of the traveling public, and, if possible, owned in Portland!

Wholesale and Jobbing Prices.

PORTLAND, July 13, 1866.

There is probably no city on the Pacific coast that has enjoyed better trade, in proportion to the capital invested in business, than Portland, for six months past. The amount of business for the week passing in review has been fair, in comparison with other periods for the season. We notice no particular changes in jobbing prices. Coffee was reported one cent too high last week. We quote to-day Rio 22½. Candles ½c lower. Isthmus Butter drooping—sales are noted at 35@40c. There is also a little tendency on the part of sugars to depreciate. Salmon are quoted at $8 ℔ half barrel, and California brands of soap, 8@9c ℔ lb.

Domestic Produce Market.

PORTLAND, July 13th, 1866.

Business in the line of domestic produce continues very unsatisfactory. There is but little grain or flour finding [illegible] and although receipts of the last month are [illegible] larger, it is principally for storage, the demand being very limited except for Victoria where a better feeling is evinced. The news from Europe shows that breadstuffs have risen, as a result of the war there, which is now a fixed fact. This is a point of chief interest to the Pacific coast, and with a sufficiency of tonnage it is expected that our wheat will be as good as gold. In consequence of the rise giving us a market for our surplus and the immense crop about to be harvested.

The new wheat crop of California has already commenced going forward, and is much larger even than the last.

As showing the tendency of the market for a series of years ending July 1st, we quote the following statement of the receipts at San Francisco of domestic flour and grain, and the price each year per hundred pounds for new wheat.

	Flour bbls	Wheat, sacks	Barley sacks	Oats sacks	Price new Wheat
1861	122,800	1,104,120	671,414	105,208	$2 10
1862	111,209	1,461,405	612,014	151,808	1 76
1863	140,525	1,890,777	445,016	172,886	1 [illegible]
1864	90,208	1,843,440	623,298	101,664	2 [illegible]
1865	65,842	511,636	310,008	168,858	1 [illegible]
1866	160,991	2,034,303	897,415	220,150	1 [illegible]

It will be seen that the price opens this year lower than it has ever been, except for 1861 and the receipts are as large as for 1861 when the price was $2 ℔ cwt.

Oregon having no direct means of exporting its supplies to foreign countries, must necessarily depend upon the San Francisco market, which is a great detriment to this State owing to the scarcity of tonnage to be obtained and the strong speculations commonly indulged

The quantity of flour and wheat exported from California for the year ending June 30th is given as follows:

Flour	[illegible] 5,078	$[illegible]
Wheat sacks	1,092,0[illegible]	[illegible]
Total	1,324,653	$15[illegible]

Upon which the Alta remarks:

[illegible] Some of the grain countries [illegible] have already forbidden the export of grain and [illegible] England are greatly curtailed.

Prices in the market to-day are merely nominal. We quote

Wheat dull, ℔ bushel	70c

Cotton Goods and Woolen Market.

PORTLAND, July 11, 1866.

The latest commercial intelligence received at this office from the east, June 11th, says that there was a fair demand for wool and sales, though not large, were pretty well divided among the leading houses. Notwithstanding the fluctuations in gold, prices were firm. The new clip of Oregon would command ready sale if in New York, as it was much better reported than last year.

Sales of 200,000 pounds from California were noted at 10 cts. per pound mainly, and 75,000 pounds, mostly fall clip, California, sold at 20@24 cts. The Boston market was rather more favorable, and we observe the same grades have sold at 25@40 cts., California burry, was quoted at 24@28 cts. very choice (Oregon) 38@44 cts.

We have no particular remarks to add to this branch of business. Trade has continued active—stocks are large. We quote:

OREGON WOOLEN GOODS—Blankets, Oregon gray quality No. 2, $7 00; do. white, No. 1, $9 00, do. No. 2 $8 00. 8-4 White flannel, $1 10@$1 25; 4-4 White do 63c. 3-4 White do. 47½@50c. ALLEN'S

LUNG BALSAM!

The Remedy for Curing

CONSUMPTION, COUGHS, COLDS,

Asthma, Croup,

Diseases of the Throat, Bronchitis, Pains and Oppression of the Chest and Lungs, Difficult Breathing and all the Diseases of the Pulmonary Organs.

ITS ACTION IS EXPECTORANT, ALTERATIVE, SUDORIFIC, SEDATIVE, DIAPHORETIC AND DIURETIC, which renders it one of the most valuable remedies known for curing diseases of the lungs. It excites expectoration and causes the lungs to throw off the phlegm or mucus; CHANGES THE SECRETIONS AND PURIFIES THE BLOOD; heals the irritated parts; gives strength to the digestive organs; brings the liver to its proper action, and imparts strength to the whole system. Such is the immediate and satisfactory effect, that it is WARRANTED TO BREAK UP THE MOST DISTRESSING COUGH IN A FEW HOURS' TIME, if not of too long standing. IT IS WARRANTED to give entire satisfaction even in the MOST CONFIRMED CASES OF CONSUMPTION. IT IS WARRANTED NOT to produce costiveness (which is the case with most remedies) or affect the head, as it contains no Opium in any form. IT IS WARRANTED TO BE PERFECTLY HARMLESS to the most delicate child, although it is an active and powerful remedy for restoring the system. THERE IS NO REAL NECESSITY FOR SO MANY DEATHS BY CONSUMPTION, when ALLEN'S LUNG BALSAM will prevent it if only taken in time.

Sold by all Druggists. Price $1 per bottle.

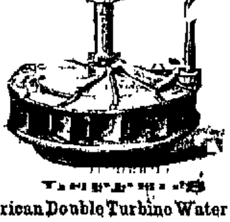
TO THE

Best Overshot Wheel in Existence.

Prices Greatly Reduced



Prices Greatly Reduced

American Double Turbine Water Wheel

IS NOW MANUFACTURED BY THE OREGON IRON Works, in the city of Portland, and orders for the same can be filled immediately. We have a small supply of the different sizes, from 10 inches to 48 inches in diameter. That we may know the proper sized wheel you require, measure your water in the following way: Take the width of the stream, the average depth, and the distance it flows in a minute.

All the wheels now in use give universal satisfaction. Both the construction of the wheel and its performance, commend it to the better judgment of all minds capable of appreciating the highest development of mechanical construction. Therefore it has conquered the most violent opposition.

This wheel is especially adapted to mining purposes. It is light, and can be easily packed into the mountains. Wheels weighing from 100 to 300 pounds will yield from 10 to 40 horse power, under a head of 27 or 30 feet. They are the cheapest wheel to set up known, as they are so arranged as to produce the greatest power possible from the water used.

The prices of these wheels have now been reduced to the ability of all. Come and see them or send for a circular to

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

617 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Strictures, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, &c. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated legs successfully treated.

Horrible Disease.

[illegible] persons, both male and female, are suffering [illegible] miserable situation [illegible] secret indulgences [illegible] absorbed into the system. Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of married life, or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. [illegible] guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering from any of these horrible disfiguring maladies [illegible] before it is too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made a private disease his specialty for years, and [illegible] who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their cures in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians in Europe [illegible] you may fall into the hands of the charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequences of self-abuse, solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, [illegible] by the youth of both sexes [illegible] producing, with unerring certainty, the following [illegible] of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If those who are not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give his patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Doctor Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, sent in registered letter or through Wells, Fargo & Co.

Address Dr. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney street, near Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 251. Consultations FREE.

Preventive Better than Cure.

The newly invented French Safe, a sure preventive against Diseases and Pregnancy, sent by mail. Price $2. Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 617 Kearney St., near Commercial, San Francisco. Portland.

THAT OLD GREENBACK CASE!

I am still obliged to accept of Legal Tender Notes at Par (and have been since Dec. 17, 1862, for the rent of my Handsome Brick Store corner of Morrison and Front streets. I feel compelled to announce for the benefit of the public, that

JACOB MAYER

Leased the building of me Feb. 17, 1862, for a term of years, at which time there was no such currency in vogue and it was understood the terms were Cash. Since the date above stated, I have received the depreciated currency regularly for the rent of the making less than two fifths of the real rental said Mayer was to pay. He had secured the building at very advantageous rates, and [illegible] contract, and pay in Coin, would be getting the best bargain in the city. I make this statement to show the public what kind of a man he must be to take such undue advantage of the times to convert a law [illegible] to himself by LEGAL SWINDLING. The public can readily see how much it costs to have such [illegible] costly buildings as the one referred to above.
